you can graduate. When a final, corrected thesis is submitted, fees and service charges are adjusted accordingly, usually within four weeks. Review the monthly academic and incidental fees schedule on the Student Accounts website for more information on specific monthly amounts.

Academic fees for the final extension year are prorated, based on 50% of the annual domestic fee for the 12-month academic year plus sessional incidentals.

The prorated fee schedule does not apply to students who have been reinstated, part-time students in a flex PhD program, or EdD students whose final year is also their first year of full-time study. APHD students who are enrolled in a clinical internship are subject to continued registration and applicable fees until the internship is complete.

International students may be entitled to a partial refund of their UHIP fee; these students are advised to contact the Centre for International Experience for more information.

The final date to submit doctoral theses without registering for the Fall session is September 15, and January 15 to avoid registration for the Winter session.

Every candidate has a right to see the appraisal two weeks prior to the exam. If the external appraisal does not arrive on time, the candidate will be advised in writing and asked to sign the External Appraisal Waiver form to proceed with the exam as scheduled. Alternatively, the exam could be rescheduled. Usually candidates

After the candidate's 20-minute presentation, examiners will take turns asking questions. The order of questioning is determined prior to start of the exam.

While there are no rules as to how many rounds of questions there are, nor how long each question can be, it is the role of Chair to ensure that the examination is conducted in accordance with the rules, and that examiners take turns of approximately equal duration.

A common understanding amongst faculty is that the examination lasts approximately 2 hours. Officially, however, there is no predetermined end time and exams are to take as much time as
